La collezione Joe Colombo nasce dai progetti Visiona 1 (1969) e Total Furnishing Unit (Italy: The New Domestic Landscape, 1972). Il rubinetto capostipite della collezione, il tre fori a bocca alta, si distingue per una forma semplice e lineare, caratterizzata da un raccordo curvilineo continuo tra i componenti e il piano di appoggio che elimina la percezione della giunzione meccanica e facilita la manutenzione. Le superfici lucide e riflettenti esaltano il linguaggio progettuale futuristico per l'epoca mentre le manopole sono disponibili anche in una variante sagomata. La versione a parete riprende le linee della bocca di erogazione del tre fori, reinterpretando la piastra attraverso un carter completamente creato su misura. Aggiornata in termini di ergonomia e funzionalità, mantiene un elevato grado di fedeltà al prototipo originale, con le due leve che scorrono verticalmente all'interno di fessure integrate nella piastra. Il cromo viene affiancato dalle tonalità Giallo Mustard, Rosso Scarlet e Blu che colorano manopole e carter in modo deciso. Il tre fori è disponibile anche in versione total black. Completano il sistema una gamma coordinata di accessori – porta salviette, porta rotolo e ganci – che riprendono geometrie, dettagli e palette, rafforzando la coerenza formale dell'insieme.

The Joe Colombo collection originates from the projects Visiona 1 (1969) and the Total Furnishing Unit (Italy: The New Domestic Landscape, 1972). The leading model of the collection, the three-hole tap with high spout, stands out for its clean, essential form, where the soft, curved transition between body and surface that eliminates any perception of mechanical joints and simplifies maintenance. The polished, reflective surfaces enhance the futuristic character of the project, while the handles are available in either a simple or sculpted version. The wall-mounted version echoes the lines of the three-hole spout, reinterpreting the backplate through a fully customised casing. Updated in terms of ergonomics and functionality, it maintains a high degree of fidelity to the original prototype, with the two levers that slide within integrated slots in the plate itself. Chrome is complemented by Mustard Yellow, Scarlet Red and Blue, boldly applied to handles and casings. The three-hole tap is also available in total black finish. A coordinated range of accessories – towel holders, toilet roll holders and hooks – completes the system, echoing its geometries, details and palette, and reinforcing the overall formal coherence.
